

Who is Visual Edge Consulting & Software (VECS)?

Visual Edge Consulting & Software specializes in information technology project management and process improvement for companies in the pharmaceutical and healthcare industries. We focus on employing technology and standards in GxP environments to enable efficient business processes and successful technology deployment. Our experience spans the drug development life cycle, including discovery, pre-clinical, clinical, regulatory, and marketing. We work to help our clients realize cost savings and efficiencies in the development of their products and therapies through the application of proper processes, standards, and technology.

Who are our clients?

Our clients include top-10 global pharmaceutical companies, healthcare organizations, and software companies who support the life sciences industry with commercial software products. Our typical client needs to meet new regulatory requirements, improve existing business practices, and/or expand their capabilities.

Can you provide examples of your work?

Examples of our work include transforming pre-clinical data using the Standard for Exchange of Nonclinical Data (SEND) for FDA submission; enabling the submission of digital ECGs using Clinical Data Interchange Standards Consortium (CDISC) / HL7 standards; implementing clinical safety and clinical drug metabolism laboratory information management systems (LIMS); improving clinical development and pharmacovigilance workflows; performing technology due diligence for a variety of pharmaceutical related software products for various investment companies; developing proposal and systems development processes for major software vendors; and leading the implementation of electronic data capture (EDC) to raise the quality of clinical data and reduce overall clinical trial cost.

What makes us different?

To be effective, we believe it is essential to staff projects with team members that possess a unique combination of industry expertise, functional skills, and business knowledge. As such, we staff all our projects with consultants who are experienced working in the pharmaceutical and/or healthcare domains. VECS further supports domain knowledge development through active membership in CDISC, the SEND consortium, HL7, and DIA. Our staff's functional knowledge covers many industry specific tools and technologies as well as the regulations and procedures needed to employ them. We strive to hire consultants with a background in business as we believe business expertise aids in clear problem definition and the ability to formulate logical, pragmatic solutions. Furthermore, it lends itself to effective leadership, communications, and client service, which are critical for project success.
